Jewish weddings are filled with colourful ceremonies

A Jewish wedding is filled with meaningful rituals and traditions and is renowned for being one of the most colourful ceremonies in the world.

Before the ceremony

A wedding is one of the cornerstones of the Jewish lifecycle, and almost as soon as a couple is engaged, these rituals begin with a ceremony known as tenaim, which involves breaking a plate to symbolise the destruction of temples in Jerusalem, and the signing of a contract that outlines the obligations of each side regarding the wedding, during a small reception known as vort.

It's worth mentioning that while arranged marriages were common in the past, it is only some ultra-Orthodox communities that continue this practice today. One week before the wedding, bride and groom traditionally stop seeing one another.

It is during this week, leading up to the wedding, that various celebrations take place: the groom attends a ceremony called an ufruf, which involves his going to the synagogue where he takes an active part in the service and the wedding is announced to the congregation; the bride attends a ritual bath, or mikveh, where she cleanses herself spiritually, removing everything, including jewellery and nail polish, before reciting a special prayer.

There is no specific traditional dress for a Jewish wedding, although brides tend to wear white, and for the more Orthodox weddings, the groom arrives wearing a white robe known as a kittel, to symbolise the clean white slate of their marriage.

The ceremony

The wedding ceremony itself is presided over by a rabbi and takes place under a chuppah - a symbol of the home that the couple will share. The ceremony normally takes place in a synagogue, but as long as the chuppah is present and the marriage takes place under a rabbi's supervision, it can be held anywhere.

It is also traditional for the bride and groom to fast on the day of the wedding.

Even before the ceremony takes place, the ketuvah, or marriage contract, is signed in the presence of four witnesses and the officiator of the service. It outlines the legal terms of the marriage. Shortly after the ketuvah the groom performs the bedekin or veiling of the bride - a symbol of the groom's intent to clothe and protect his wife.

Traditionally, the bride's father escorts her to the chuppah, where she is the last person to arrive and traditionally circles the groom seven times, a symbol of the woman as the protective, surrounding light of the household.

Less Orthodox brides circle as little as once around the groom, where-after the rabbi blesses the wine and the bride and groom drink the first of seven cups of wine they will drink together during the ceremony and reception.

The giving of the ring, or kiddushin, that follows, is an important part of the ceremony. The ring, usually plain and gold, is placed on the bride's finger as the groom recites a verse.

The rabbi then recites the seven blessings, or sheva brachos, although sometimes these are given to various people the families wish to honour.

The ceremony ends with the breaking of a glass by the groom - one of the more recognisable Jewish traditions. The bride and groom are now married, and are accompanied by dancing guests to the cheder yichud, or a private room - traditionally an intimacy reserved only for a married couple.

The reception follows a pattern similar to those in other religions, such as the saying of speeches, but one other religious ritual that will occur is the blessing of the challah bread, and Jewish dancing to traditional songs is a big part of the reception.

YOUR WEDDING GUIDE

A good mix of Jewish and African flavours

When Cheryl Flekser bought 'Shalom from Africa' six years ago, it was a company with a range of just three products. Now six years later the product range includes personalised handmade yarmulkes, ties, bowties and pocket hankies for your special day.

Other products available include personalised challah covers, kippah boxes, bris and tallis bags as well as jewellery for 21st's bati's and barmi's to name a few. She has recently launched a unique new range of Judaic goods incorporating an African flair: These include African Ndebele beaded mezuzahs, challah covers and yarmulkes.

For a romantic kosher honeymoon at Plett

IF YOU'RE LOOKING for a South African honeymoon destination, consider Plettenberg Bay, the jewel of the Garden Route. Vista 180 guest house combines full-board, kosher cuisine, luxury accommodation and spectacular sea views.

Rates include full board, which means three quality gourmet, kosher meals per day, prepared fresh daily on-site in our kitchens, all under the supervision of the Cape Town Beth Din.

Being situated in close proximity to magnificent beaches and a short walk to the shul (and mikvah), makes it an ideal honeymoon setting for the observant couple.

At Vista 180, chocolates and a bottle of kosher sparkling wine await you on arrival. We pamper our honeymoon couples by providing private, candlelit dinners, either on your patio or poolside.

At the same time, religious requirements are taken into consideration, such as rooms being made up with either a king-size bed or two singles on request.

Exploring the Garden Route, while observing kashrut, couldn't be easier. For lunch our guests may choose items off our menu, and a hamper is packed for a day at the beach or a sightseeing trip.

At Vista 180 Shabbat is celebrated conforming to all the Shabbat laws and regulations. We endeavour at all times to make Shabbat a truly enjoyable and spiritual time.

YOUR WEDDING GUIDE

For that special day, dress in a Sposabella gown

ESTABLISHED IN 1994, Sposabella Wedding Gowns specialises in importing exquisite wedding dresses of fine international brands. For the past decade and half, we are renowned for our quality dresses, dedicated personal attention and commitment to service excellence.

Before Sposabella was established, the traditional wedding dress business in South Africa was dominated by small backyard seamstresses with more expensive and exclusive dresses provided by a handful of dress designers.

The dress designer dedicated exclusively to wedding dresses was not in existence and thus Sposabella Wedding Gowns is the first party to introduce a wedding boutique stocked with international famous brands with comprehensively wide selections, into southern Africa.

At any given time, there are more than 200 brand new and top quality well-maintained dresses of a wide variety of styles in the store available for your selection.

Each and every dress is individually picked, ensuring all the styles, traditional or modern, local-favourite or internationally popular.

Since our design team is in sync with the international dress manufacturers and they visit these fashion centres worldwide regularly, the design and fabrics and beadwork of our dresses are in fashion at least two seasons ahead of local competitions.

In addition, Sposabella Wedding Gowns is the first company to introduce world-famous Jasmine dresses (www.jasminebridal.com) to South Africa.

Any of the wedding dresses, evening gowns, the in-law dresses, bridesmaid dresses and matric dance dresses displayed on the online Jasmine catalogue, are available on order with us.

In addition, our order inventory includes other world-famous brands such as Pronovias, Lazaro, Illusions, Demetrio and Sophia Tolli, just to name a few.

All our dresses are sourced directly from the manufacturers of the name brand without going through other third party agents. This can offer the brides additional assurances on the quality of our dresses and our services.

Should you have your own unique, precious ideas that you would like to see these something special, something memorable realised for that all-important occasion of the lifetime, our in-house design team for accessories (for example, head veils, matching jackets, sleeves, etc) and "dress sculpturing" are excellent in finding the right accessories and making the desired alterations to make your dreams come true.

Our decade-long solid and seamless relationship with Stuttafords gives our clients added comfort that their satisfactions are our top priority.

Three new wines from the Zandwijk stable

ZANDWIJK WINES (PTY) LTD, situated in Paarl and producer of the Kleine Draken range of kosher wines, has released three new wines.

The Kleine Draken Vin Doux Sweet Sparkling is the first South African kosher sparkling wine to be released and it is a wine to celebrate any occasion. It has a low alcohol of nine per cent.

The Kleine Draken Semi-Sweet Rosé is an easy-to-drink, well-balanced wine, ideal for summer. This wine will complement a wide range of dishes, especially fish and pasta dishes.

The Kleine Draken Natural Sweet White is a wine with tropical flavours on the nose. It has a low alcohol content of nine per cent. It is well balanced and will complement chicken and pasta dishes.

These three wines were launched at Faff, the upmarket - and now fully kosher - restaurant in Norwood, Johannesburg. Among the invited guests was Frank Kantor, a veteran reader of the Jewish Report, who recently won the Kleine Draken return airticket to Israel competition.

All Zandwijk kosher products are made under the strict supervision of the Cape Town Beth Din and are certified kosher and kosher for Passover.

Zandwijk welcomes visitors and is open for wine tasting and wine sales, Monday to Friday

Stephanie Swart congratulates Frank Kantor on winning the Kleine Draken lucky draw for a return ticket to Israel, while Jean van Rooyen, winemaker at Kleine Draken looks on.

MedVacations - for Italy and the rest of Europe

MEDVACATIONS IS an experienced "family"-run organisation specialising in Italy and the rest of Europe. We have 30 years-plus hands-on expertise and above all we are a boutique operator catering to your clients' every taste and need and interest and whim.

We have an exuberant passion for our destination which rubs off on the traveller and converts his dream into a passion - a heartthrob.

Our experience helps us to create the "over-the-top" and our feedback is always exceptional. Individual ideas ooze from our veins. Your wish is our challenge.

We excel in themed thoughts for religious requests such as synagogue visits and historic events such as the Palio (horserace) of Siena in Tuscany.

MedVacations is the godfather for incentive programmes and we close the Vatican Museums to the public and open it just for you! You become the Gary Player of Sardinia putting at the Pevero Golf Club.

Driving around in your favourite colour Ferrari, you have miles and miles of unforgettable pleasure. Our painting courses try to repeat these Tuscan scenes on canvas.

Food, food glorious food... no better than Italy. Your taste buds have a culture shock! Learn to cook as the Romans cook in an authentic Roman home... pizza, pasta and sheer pleasure.

While in Rome, do as the Romans do. Wow the local open air markets for fish, meat and vegetables. Bargains... it's in your DNA... The safari!

We can guarantee the "Big Five" - landmark monuments and famous fountains on a one-on-one basis. Boasting to the plebs on your private Segway through the Coliseum.

Your very own entrance tickets for the famous "David". The goldsmiths in Florence will tickle your fancy with a piece that you just can't refuse. Hire a bicycle and ride atop the mediaeval walls of Lucca and have a photo taken holding up the Leaning Tower of Pisa. Enchanting Chianti and it's wine and olive oil tasting.

Leave Tuscany and do the Cinque Terre on the local 5-minute rail ride. Oh the lakes! Como and its Villa d'Este, a neighbour of George Clooney or Garda with the sensational town of Sirmione or Maggiore and the Isola Madre and Isola Bella.

It's time to say "arrivederci" from Milan where you will find "ucci Gucci Pucci smoochie and Nucci... it's a matter of mind over brand. They are all there.

YOUR WEDDING GUIDE

Wedding checklist - it's a definite must!

AFTER THE INITIAL ecstasy of announcing the engagement, the bride-to-be soon realises that an actual wedding now needs to be planned. More often than not, with working moms and busy friends, the organising of the wedding falls to the bride.

As daunting as this sounds it is actually a wonderful exercise in independence - and a crash course in event management, which can open up a whole new career path should you find the experience pleasant.

The following checklist is intended as a guide only and it would be wise to remember that each item entails an entire checklist of its own. Try to delegate as much as you can to responsible friends and family.

As soon as possible:

1. Choose a date - this might depend on when overseas friends and family are able to get tickets. It also depends on the availability of your wedding venue of choice.
2. Book the hall and secure booking shortly afterwards by paying the deposit.
3. Choose the rabbi (and shul) where you would like to have the chuppah.
4. Select someone who will do the invitations. These must ideally go out about six weeks in advance. You will also need to get quotes on thank you cards, table cards, and table lists. Your registry, if you want one, needs to be mentioned in the invitation, which will entail selecting the store(s) and choosing a gift selection.
5. Book a photographer.
6. Book someone to take a video.
7. Choose a florist. You will need flowers for the reception, the chuppah, the bridal bouquet, bridesmaids and possibly the male retinue.
8. Book the band, both for the chuppah (although many shuls have their own choir) and the reception.
9. Choose your retinue, eg maid of honour, best man, MC, drivers, pole-holders, and let them know if they are to make speeches.

2 - 3 months before

10. Get UOS authorisation. They have a checklist of their own which includes copies of parents' ketubahs and unabridged birth certificates of bride and groom, which may take several weeks to get from Home Affairs. Contact the Beth Din on tel: (011) 485-4865.
11. Arrange Kallah classes (Jewish marriage education). Contact Lillian Wolpe tel: (011) 648 5583.
12. Arrange marriage prepare sessions. Contact Etta Goldman (011) 532-9616.
13. Find a dress or a dressmaker. Get material for bridesmaids' dresses, find ties and kippot for the pole-holders. Later you should buy small gifts for the retinue. You'll need to look for comfortable shoes for the wedding and jewellery for the day.
14. Meet the caterer - (many halls are contracted to a specific caterer). Choose the menu and pay the Beth Din fee.
15. Order or buy wedding band(s). Many brides buy their groom a tallis, and depending on his custom he will need to get a kittel (white garment worn on wedding day and Yom Kippur).
16. Choose your make-up and hair artists and book beauty treatments and trial dates.
17. Choose a sheitel, buy hats and scarves etc.
18. Order your ketubah.
19. The ANC - Contact an attorney to draw up your ante-nuptial contract.
20. Order benching cards. Also consider having beautiful tefillat haderech cards on the table purchased from the Kallah Fund. The money helps brides less fortunate.

One month before

21. Meet with your rabbi to go over the ceremony at the chuppah.
22. Allocate who will recite the sheva brachot at the chuppah. This is regarded as an honour.
23. Start taking vitamins to ward of colds and flu.
24. Arrange seating plans with the caterer (how many guests per table) and with the person doing your table cards and table lists.
25. Contact friends (who have already offered) who will host sheva brachot. Give them the details of the guests they must invite.
26. Delegate someone to get food for the Yichud room. It is customary to fast on the day of the wedding, so its best to have a light snack before post-chuppah photos commence - and don't take too long with those.
27. If you are going on honeymoon make necessary arrangements.
28. Delegate your retinue to organise the bachelor party, kitchen tea or pamper party etc.

The week before

29. Assuming you've found somewhere to live, move in essential furniture (eg beds) and essential appliances (eg fridge, stove). Toivel items you will be using immediately.
30. Plan Of Ruf lunch - this is the Shabbos before the wedding when the groom is called to the Torah.
31. Plan Shabbos Kallah. This is a women-only get-together on the Shabbos before the wedding and helps to bring joy to the bride.
32. Arrange bride's table - usually where the bride gets dressed and has photos.
33. Delegate friends to buy Shtick - fun gimmicky toys to add excitement to the wedding eg bubbles, sparklers etc.
34. Ask someone to make you a Bircat kallah - a prayer sheet that you say shortly before the chuppah with the names of people who need your blessings. Confirm that there will be a bedekin chair at the chuppah to receive guests etc.
35. Make arrangements to go to the mikvah.

Christopher Munton - for memories that will last

Christopher Munton has been a creative wedding photographer for the last decade. His award-winning images have made him both sought after and respected in the field of photojournalism and contemporary portraiture.

CHRISTOPHER IS an easy-going artist who captures the real moments as they unfold in a tasteful series of storytelling images that are stylish and emotive. He is commissioned both nationally and internationally and his works have been published in numerous magazines and advertisements.

YOUR WEDDING GUIDE

Bring a lot of luxury to your bathroom

THERE'S A REASON why Christy is the UK's leading brand of bath towels. With a heritage which stretches back over 150 years, Christy is the expert when it comes to towels.

As England's original towel manufacturer, it knows exactly how to make the most luxurious towels you can buy.

Famous for its trusted name, tradition and quality, it has used its knowledge to develop a unique range of bed linen and accessories for the home.

In 1850 Henry Christy visited the Palace of the Sultan in Constantinople. He brought back with him a sample of a handmade, loop pile fabric which was new to the Western world. His brother, Richard Christy analysed how to mechanically reproduce the loop pile, and patented a machine to produce terry towelling on a large scale.

The first Christy towels were shown in the Great Exhibition of 1851 at Crystal Palace, where a set was presented to Queen Victoria. She liked them so much she immediately ordered more. The "Royal Turkish Towels" had arrived. Since then the Christy name has been synonymous with quality and luxury.

Christy uses only the very finest natural fibres to create beautiful towels and bed linen. Traditionally cotton is used to make towels, however other natural fibres are now also being used.

As towel brand leader in the UK, Christy strives to be innovative and was the first manufacturer in the UK to introduce other natural fibres such as silk, micro modal and blends of these fibres.

The bed linen collection boasts high thread counts, intricate embroidery and beautifully woven designs in a combination of classic and contemporary styling to suit any bedroom.

The Renaissance range of towels are woven from the finest Egyptian cotton, which at 620gsm provides a highly absorbent and luxuriously soft towel. Pamper yourself with generous sizes and elegant colours.

The range is available in the following colours:

a.. Alabaster, b.. Auburn, c.. Black, d.. Driftwood, e.. Frost, f.. Honesty Pink, g.. Parchment, h.. Soft Chambray, i.. Stormy Blue, j.. Tweed, k.. Walnut, and l.. White.

Christy's products are available from Simply Linen, Rosebank on (011) 447-7000 or e-mail: simplylinen@worldonline.co.za and from selected Gauteng retailers, or can be ordered countrywide.

YOUR WEDDING GUIDE

Alexia is one step ahead in hair fashion

Alexia, owner of Alexia's Hair Studio in Bryanston, is a highly acclaimed, well-established and highly recognised professional hairdresser.

Alexia offers you professional advice. Her progressive techniques create body, volume, movement, total texture and maximum definition for all types of hair. From thick straight to fine limp or curly hair, it will be easy to maintain.

She is very adaptable; her elegant long haired-up styles are as glamorous as the short and are emphasised by the desirable colours and colour flashes.

Alexia guarantees that every client that steps out of her salon is happy and looks and feels 10 years younger.

For your convenience there is a fully qualified beauty therapist in the salon offering facials, pedicures, manicures, full body massage and waxing.

Alexia invites you to visit her salon which has a warm cosy atmosphere with friendly staff - Lizzie and Wendy - who are there to welcome you with a good cup of tea or coffee and sooth and relax you with a superb head massage.

• Please call for an appointment and enquire about our specials and free consultations. Tel: (011) 463-6323 or (011) 463-0017. E-mail studio@alexias.co.za

ALEXIA COMES from Greece, where she did her apprenticeship and continued to study after qualifying. She travelled overseas regularly for advanced courses and has attended many international schools in London - Vidal Sassoon Academy, Morris International, Alan International and Tony and Guy.

In Paris, she specialised in colours at L'Oreal de Paris.

From the middle-'80s, Alexia began regular visits to Tony and Guy every two years for the latest advanced techniques in styling, cutting and colouring.

Villa Tuscana Wedding Village in Midrand is tops

BRIDES RATE Villa Tuscana Wedding Village at the Midrand Conference Centre, as "simply the best".

Couples who have celebrated their weddings there, give consistently outstanding ratings. As one recent bride said: "My Villa Tuscana Wedding Village co-ordinator went the extra mile to make my day spectacular. Our wedding was beyond our wildest dreams."

Villa Tuscana Wedding Village in a nutshell: Situated just 15 minutes from Sandton on seven acres of exquisite gardens, this enchanting village offers a choice of 12 beautifully styled function halls catering for weddings of up to 550 guests.

Out-of-town guests are accommodated in 5 x 4-star boutique home-away-from-home guesthouses. Bridal day rooms and honeymoon suites are included in wedding packages.

There are 15 generously equipped conference, function, meeting and training rooms with breakaway rooms, catering for between 10 to 800 delegates each. Our experienced conference co-ordinators work closely with you to ensure that we exceed your expectations.

Why choose this venue?

The CEO, Dr Carnie Matisonn, explained his vision behind the village: "I wanted to create a holistic venue with character, a choice of ambience, and a service that would ensure memorable experiences to suit our guests' style and pocket. That's why we also allocate dedicated specialist co-ordinators to bridal couples, conference and function clients, to help take the stress out of planning."

Hyatt Regency Johannesburg means urban chic

The Hyatt Regency Johannesburg, located in the ever-bustling suburb of Rosebank, is the perfect juxtaposition of urban structure and abundant natural serenity.

THIS LUXURIOUS 5-star property can host almost any wedding your heart desires, whether it is a garden wedding or something with a modern edge in the sun-filled Atrium.

The various venues lend themselves to small or large weddings, whether it's a party of 200 in the ballroom or a more intimate affair of 50 - 100 people in the NdaU Private Dining Room (PDR).

A fully Mahadrin kosher kitchen, makes Hyatt Regency Johannesburg a popular choice.

The Hyatt Regency Johannesburg doesn't just offer you a venue and its trimmings, it offers a wedding experience for the bridal couple and their party, providing a bridal suite with ample space to change as well as a retreat to take some time out before the reception.

Wedding packages available include red carpet treatment and champagne upon arrival for the bridal couple, and a complimentary suite for their special night and a full English breakfast the next morning to get the honeymooners off to a good start.

We have a dedicated team of wedding co-ordinators ready to give you the day of your dreams. All with the Hyatt touch!
